SUMMA ANNOUNCES MILLARD AS CHAIRMAN OF '53 JUNIOR PROM

John F. Summa, junior class president, has announced the appointment of Charles E. F. Millard as Chairman of the 1953 Junior Prom, which will be held in the Fieldhouse on Friday, May 1st. Summa chose Millard because "he not only states that he can do a thing, but he goes out and does it."

The selection was approved by the Junior Council. Millard comes from Ridgewood, New Jersey, and is in the A.B. Greek program. He attended Regis High School. Since coming to Holy Cross, he has been an active member of the committees. Last year Millard was program chairman of the Sophomore Dance and the Jersey Club Dance. This year he was chairman of the Met Club's N. Y. U. Dance, and its display for Fordham weekend. He is also program chairman of the K. of C. Dance to be held this weekend.

The Music Corporation of America and the Associated Booking Company have already been contacted and a list of available bands has been secured. Among the more prominent names on the list are Les Brown, Blue Beltones, Elliot Lawrence, and Johnny Ray.

At a class meeting last Thursday, Summa stated that he wished the Junior Prom to be a class prom and not a committee prom. Both he and Summa stated the fact that they hoped the Junior Prom would co-operate according to the tradition of Holy Cross men.

At today's meeting, Chairman Millard asked all those who were interested in working on the various committees for the Prom to submit their names. Millard announced that committee chairmen will be chosen soon.

Selective Service To Offer Deferment Test

The Selective Service System has announced that the College Qualification Test will again be given on December 4, 1952 and April 23, 1953.

Applications for the tests are now available at any draft board. Applications for the December 4 exam must be postmarked not later than November 1.

The conditions for eligibility are: that the student intend to request a student deferment; that he be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction; and that he has not previously taken the test. To be eligible for a deferment by the test, a minimum mark of 70 must be attained. General Hershey, Selective Service Director, emphasized that increasing manpower makes it important that each draft-eligible student, who has not taken the test, do so as soon as possible.

Students who do not take the test must attain the upper half of the freshman class, the upper two-thirds of the sophomore class, or the upper three-fourths of the junior class to be eligible for student deferment.

Very Rev. John A. O'Brien, S.J., President of the College, will preside next week at ground-breaking ceremonies for the two new student dormitories to be erected atop Mount St. James. Construction work on the buildings will commence next Monday, and it is expected that they will be ready for occupancy by February, 1954.

K of C TO HOLD VICTORY DANCE AT ELKS' HOME

Crusader Council No. 2706 of the Knights of Columbus will sponsor the Brown weekend Couple Dance at the Elks' Home this Saturday evening at 8 p.m.

Grand Knight John W. Spillane, '54, announced that Perry Conte and his orchestra will provide the music. Dancing will be till midnight and the tickets are $2.40 per couple. Guests of Honor will be Captain and Mrs. James Bateman, U.S.M.C.

Chairman in charge of the dance is Frank A. Williams, '53. Decoration and raffle chairman is Armand V. Garafalo, '53. Joseph E. Cullo, '54, is in charge of publicity, and Program Director Charles E. F. Millard, '54, complete the administration staff. Ticket Chairman Thomas F. Nuss, '54, has disclosed that tickets may be purchased at Beaven 314. The Crusader Council has provided a date bureau for those wishing to attend. All interested are asked to contact Michael J. McNulty, '53, in Carlin 126 or Beaven 314.

The dormitories, which will house 362 students, will be erected on the site of the present orchard behind Campion Hall. The three and one-half story structures will be of red brick with limestone trim in keeping with the design of the other campus buildings.

In addition to the student rooms, each building will have a recreation room and a lounge in which the students may entertain guests, as well as ample storage and trunk rooms.

The contract for the buildings has been awarded to Walsh Brothers Construction Company of Cambridge, Mass. Maginnis and Walsh of Boston, who have also designed other recent college buildings, are the architects.

The new buildings are unique in that they will be the first buildings built on campus for the exclusive purpose of housing students. Each of the student rooms measure 18 by 12 feet, approximately the same size as the rooms in Beaven, and are designed to house two students.

The erection of the new dorms will not occasion an increase in the student enrollment. Rather, they have been planned to alleviate the current overcrowded conditions. After they are opened, the campus will return to the original system of two men in a room.

UNITY, SANCTITY, ACTION

All of us have seen pictures and newsreels of the huge Communist youth demonstrations in Eastern European capitals. Their zeal carries them to fanatical extremes, and their gatherings are replete with gigantic photographs of Uncle Joe, brilliant railroad flares, blaring military bands, and all the other techniques necessary for waging a campaign of hate. You can't beat a Communist youth for enthusiasm.

Or can you? Next week we'll have an opportunity to show our own zeal in resisting Communism and defending our Faith. Next week is National Catholic Youth Week. And it will be no mere publicity stunt. Pope Pius XII is scheduled to send a message to the Catholic Youth of America; President Truman, several governors, mayors and clergymen are slated to proclaim the program via newspapers, radio and television.

The initial letters of the theme, "Unity, Sanctity, Action" emphasize the civic purpose of the Week. We need UNITED Catholic youth. Even though there are several Catholic youth groups in the country, including the NFCCS and our own Sodality, we all have a common purpose—to preserve the ideals of our country and our Faith. We need SANCTITY—strong, fearless holiness, to counteract Kremlin cruelty. Most of all we need ACTION—vital participation in parish, diocesan, and civic projects.

This is our chance to hop on the bandwagon and show Communist youth what American youth can do. We can support Catholic Youth Week by offering rosaries, Masses and Communions. A quiet "Our Father" in St. Joseph's Chapel echoes more loudly than a violent shout from youthful Communists at a Red rally in Berlin or Moscow.

"HOGAN'S ALLEY"

"Hogan's Alley" is a term they use in many towns in this land of ours. It merely signifies that the section referred to is not the best. It usually implies that the inhabitants themselves have created "Hogan's Alley" and the havoc which is attendant on the appellation. The original "Hogan's Alley," wherever it might have been, must have been a sloppy, littered street, and Hogan, whoever he was, undoubtedly was the cause of its creation and ill-repute.

The campus of the College of the Holy Cross is in no sense of the term a "Hogan's Alley." But there are many potential "alleys" and the number of potential "Hogans" is quasi-infinite. And though this is neither national cleanup week or month, perhaps it might be wise to make a mental note of the situation. Such civic pride in our city on a hill, seedling of the civic pride which is an integral part of citizenship, should make us acutely conscious of keeping our campus clean and our conduct in and around the buildings on a gentlemanly level. Several floors of students hanging out of windows, in varying degrees, to catch a glimpse of campus visitors, might be considered a breach of the above rule.

With a special nod to the cliff-dwellers of upper campus, some might say that it lends a "tenement atmosphere" to the campus, and a great temptation to empty the tenements of undesirable objects. Some might be so bold as to claim they are witnessing a veritable "Hogan's Alley." Now is as good a time as any for an increase in civic and personal pride. Let us turn the Holy Cross alleys into neat and gentlemanly avenues in keeping with what is expected of Holy Cross gentlemen. Actual and potential "Hogans" please take note.

ELECTION PARADOX

During the past few months, the American public has been besieged with slogans, speeches and advertisements reminding them of their duty to vote. In this presidential year, there is no more important duty that can be granted to a citizen. But in some states, college students who have reached the voting age are prohibited from doing so by certain voting regulations.

Especially affected by these narrow regulations are students hailing from states where absentee ballots are not granted, or only granted to servicemen. And some of the leading states in the East have such laws. A student cannot vote at home because he is here at school; he cannot vote at school because this is not his permanent address. Therefore by means of legal red tape he is unintentionally but effectively restrained from casting his ballot on election day. All we can say is that it is ironic that many of America's future leaders are in their youth prevented from taking part in their government.

SATURDAY'S MOVIE "Diplomatic Courier"

Cast: Tyrone Power, Pat Neal, Stephen McNally and Hildegard Neff.

Plot: A State Department courier becomes involved in a tug-of-war between Russians and Americans while working in Trieste, in this fast-moving modern spy story.

Comment: Although Saturday's feature is fashioned along formula lines, it manages to emerge as a triumph of originality and imagination. Those who are more interested in excitement and intriguing situations than in plausibility should enjoy this modern cloak-and-dagger story.

Tyrone Power as a wild-eyed State Department courier who co-operates with Counter Intelligence in uncovering a Soviet timetable for the invasion of Yugoslavia, and Hildegard Neff, very Garbo-esque as the spy who confuses Tyrone, contribute splendid performances to this gripping jigsaw. Most of the intrigue arises from a situation in which nobody knows who is on whose side. Until she pulls a gun on him, Pat Neal is the apple of our hero's eye. But then he turns to ponder the loyalties of the throaty Miss Neff, and continues in this state of perplexity until the film's close.

This, together with the realism supplied by the authentic European backgrounds, a good combination of actual background film and Hollywood ingenuity, contributes to the success of a truly rousing espionage yarn that is realistic in its suspense and convincing in its intrigues.

Letter to Editor

My Dear Sir,

Ordinarily we do not read a column entitled "Crossbars" which appears sporadically in your otherwise fine newspaper. However, last week several persons in whom charity is honored with more than lip service, informed us that there were several scurrilous attacks in the aforementioned "column."

Being philosophical by nature, our anger does not entirely obliterate our reason in the face of these unreasonable attacks. In true scholastic spirit we answer thuswise:

(Kiernan) Roommate A is a pretender to the throne of the now defunct Austro-Hungarian Empire.

Resp. (subtle distinction) There is no need for pretense in this case. Moreover our day will come and soon we shall once more assume our rightful place in the sisterhood of nations.

(Kiernan) Roommate B is a manic depressive and abominates. We quote "hates all people."

Resp. We hate to do it, but deny the major, and spoil the universal. B likes A.

(Kiernan) Roommate A is a room rearranger.

Resp. Arg. ad Hom. Some people actually vitiate their very nature by ceasing to strive for the good, the true, and the beautiful. Kiernan belongs with those who bought horses when the automobile was invented.

We thank you for the opportunity to make the truth known and we hope that in the future such irresponsible attacks will be stopped before they are made public.

Sincerely,

Divus and Wolfgang

By Dick Kiernan

In spite of all-out efforts by the government, just put on an even like the World Series and people are going to bet on it. Understand betting money is all right—it can only lead to financial ruin and suicide. It's the joke and trick bets that are dangerous. For example . . .

Cosmo Logo lost his Series bet and so has to stay up during Christmas vacation to answer the student phone on Second Wheeler. Felix Llat, a forfeit for his bad bet, has to stay up over Christmas and make phone calls for Cosmo Logo to answer.

Frank Knish, '54, because he bet that Joe Black would win eight games in the Series (something of a longshot) has, as a penalty, to eat his meals in Kimball during Lent. He is practicing by eating every day a combination of slippery elm and chocolate-covered oyster salad.

The chant "we want milk" heard recently in Kimball has sent historians scurrying to their record books to find a precedent for such going on. Of course, there have been numerous chants, such as "Beat B. C.," similar desires, but never have the students tried to formulate Kimball administrative policy. The closest occurrence of that nature reported on February 18, 1927, when the students arose en masse to shout, "Shout us 'The Lives of the Bengal Lancers.'" Heeding the wishes of the students that particular picture has been shown every year since.

"There are some old gas-lamps on the wall in First Carlin. They are still in working order."—The preceding was a public service announcement for all science students who have been having trouble with their regular Bunsen Burners.

President Truman's arrival in town yesterday (a fact on which will report next week) brought us to thoughts of elections. Naturally, national elections are the largest elections in this country, but it may surprise to some to learn that the nation's second largest election is "Miss Rheingold" election held annually in New York City. Last year, eight and a half million ballots were cast to elect the girl who would represent this soft-drink firm. That certainly indicates where the average American's preference lies when there comes a choice of voting for a girl or for a government official. The Democrats really missed the boat when they didn't run Stevenson with Marilyn Monroe.

INTENSIVE RESEARCH AT LAST SHEDS LIGHT ON FENWICK FIRE

By Jim Gill and Tom Brennan

After fourteen long years of intensive research we have finally been able to piece the insidious story together. Yes, Fenwick Hall burned, but the facts have never before been bared. The tale cannot be fully told here—since we are allotted only a small space. You'd think after fourteen years—oh, well.

It all began a little over a century ago. A certain Professor Borden J. Googs, L.S., M.F.T., famed authority on Ancient Zoology from Omsk University, arrived at Mt. St. James. He had accepted the position only under the condition that he be allowed to perform spinal experiments—free of charge. The field of Ancient Zoology was about to be opened up and closed forever.

The wizened little fellow stepped from his carriage into the face of a long Hoya, sneered and dragged his immense duffle bag into his appointed lair in Fenwick Tower. He was seldom seen from then on, except on the daily eighth period. Ah, but Googs loved his subject. Often he delivered his lectures from behind the stuffy jaws of a wild boar or some other fascinating beast.

Shortly after his arrival, a series of strange incidents began to occur. On the afternoon of October 17, a horse-drawn wagon came to a halt in front of Fenwick Hall. Googs rushed to meet it. The unloading of the wagon collected a number of students in the locale. In directing the removal of a large perforated can, the Doctor insisted time and time again that the peons take meretricious care lest the contents be in some way damaged. Obviously, it was meretricious zoology lab.

The news of the new equipment circulated among the Ancient Zoology majors rapidly and several arrived before the start of the second year. The new equipment featured a ser-

NEWS BRIEF

The Department of State has announced to all colleges its 1953 trainee program designed to secure a limited number of carefully selected students who possess outstanding potential for eventual promotion to top level executive and administrative positions.

The requirements for selection to the program are: successful competition in the Civil Service Commission Junior Management Assistant Exam and nomination by the College's Nominating Board, Rev. William L. Lucey, S.J., Rev. George A. King, S.J., and Rev. George A. Higgins, S.J.

BUSINESS MEETING OPENS NEW FRESHMAN DEBATING SEASON

The Freshman Debating Society, under the leadership of Rev. Patrick J. Cummings, S.J., inaugurated their season at a business meeting last Tuesday evening.

The society decided to have a brief series of open forums in the next few meetings, after which regular debates will begin. Topics of interest will be chosen by the members, who also may choose their own teams. The Frosh picked as a topic for their next meeting: "Should a Professional Soldier be chosen President of the United States?" This initial discussion will take place Tuesday evening in the O'Kane Chemistry Lecture Hall, and they will continue every Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Father Cummings, moderator, said, "Much enthusiasm for the society in the past has stemmed from the general discussion periods which follow the debates. We are hopeful that this enthusiasm will continue." The moderator urged all Freshmen to take advantage of this opportunity to gain poise and facility of speaking. Membership is open to any Freshman interested in improving his speaking ability, especially those with no previous experience.

Annual Music Festival
To Begin October 20

The Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Eugene Ormandy, will be the feature attraction of this year's Worcester County Music Festival which begins Monday, October 20. Tickets for this week-long event held in the Worcester Memorial Auditorium are now available at Steinert's Music Shop, 308 Main Street.

The Festival, now in its 93rd year, is the oldest continuous civic musical program in the nation. Six concerts, featuring internationally known concert artists accompanied by the orchestra, highlight the program which is under the general management of Boris Goldovsky.

Hilde Gueden, celebrated soprano and star of the Metropolitan Opera, will be the guest artist on Monday evening's program. Miss Gueden became very popular in this country as a result of her numerous television guest appearances.

Mack Harrell, David Lloyd, Adele Addison and Janice Moudy will sing the leading roles in Wednesday evening's presentation of Bach's "St. Matthew's Passion."

"The Music You Asked For" will be presented Thursday night. These selections, including Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony" and Gershwin's "American in Paris Suite," have been chosen as a result of balloting by last year's concert goers. The soloist on this program will be the popular Negro baritone William Warfield whose recent performance of "Ole Man River" won wide acclaim.

Margaret Harshaw, star of the Metropolitan Opera and likely successor to Kirsten Flagstad, will be the guest artist on Friday's performance. Miss Harshaw, an American, will sing the taxing role of Brunhilde in the latter half of a program which features music by Wagner and Shostakovich.

Following Saturday morning's Children's Concert will be the Beethoven Concert which will conclude this year's Festival program. Rudolf Firkusny, internationally famous pianist will perform in the "Emperor Concerto," and the Fantasia in C Minor, Op. 80. In the latter he will be joined by the Festival Chorus. The major work will be the Symphony No. 7 in A Major, Op. 92, with Mr. Ormandy conducting.

A detailed listing of the Festival program is posted on the Music Club's Bulletin Board in the P.O. Late permissions will be available on request.

OFFICE OF STUDIES ANNOUNCES
CLASS LEADERS, AWARD WINNERS

Three of last year's class leaders pose for the camera after being announced by the Reverend Dean of Studies. They are, left to right: Martin E. Palmer, '55, Robert J. Finn, '54, and John D. O'Connell, '53. They held highest honors for both the first and second semesters.

The office of the Reverend Dean of Studies announced today the names of the class leaders in academic standing for the second semester of the 1951-52 school year and the winners of the Prize Awards for the past year.

Class Leaders

John D. O'Connell, '53, an A.B. Greek student, from Worcester, led the present Senior class. The leader of the present Junior class was Robert J. Finn, '54, a B.S. Education student from St. Albans, Vt. Another A.B. Greek student, Martin E. Palmer, '55, from St. Louis, Mo., was the top man among the present sophomores. These three men also led their respective classes for the first semester of the past school year.

O'Connell attained an average of 96.8%. He has been an officer in the Sodality, secretary of the Day Students' History Society and a member of the French Club. He is an alumnus of South High, Worcester, having graduated from there in 1949.

Robert Finn, '54, compiled an average of 93.23%. He is a former feature editor of the TOMAHAWK and also played freshman football.

Palmer had an average of 93.77%. He is a member of the Interracial Justice Club, and the History Society. Last year he also belonged to the Freshman Debating Society. He graduated from Chaminade High School in St. Louis, Mo., in 1951.

Sixth Congress Of SG Appoints New Leaders

After welcoming and orienting new members, the Student Congress this week elected Rev. Jonh J. Kelliher, S.J., as Faculty adviser.

Following an address given by John V. Dinan, '53, president, it was declared that members absent four times would be removed from the Congress according to the Constitution.

The Cabinet reports were read and the chairmen for the ensuing year approved. Robert T. Cahill, '53, Publicity Chairman, will investigate standardization of announcements in the dining hall.

Barry R. McDonough, '54, will be Club Liaison officer and will post a weekly calendar of campus activities on the Congress Bulletin Board in the post office.

John G. Suelzer, '53, was appointed as student activities chairman and will be in charge of the social calendar for the year.

Joseph E. Murphy, '53, is in charge of faculty relations and John G. Phe-lan will be in charge of student off-campus employment.

The Red Cross blood drive will be held again this year during the first semester. Co-chairmen are to be appointed from the Student Congress and the Purple Key with Dennis O'Connor, last year's co-chairman, serving as adviser.

The Emergency Committee, consisting of Joseph T. Brennan, '53, J. Edward Sweet, '53, and Henry J. Hekir, '54, was elected. This group is empowered to act in financial matters should sufficient time be lacking for an assembly of the Congress.

SODALITY MODERATOR EXHORTS MEMBERS TO PRACTICE DEEP PIETY

Addressing a large gathering of students at the weekly meeting of the Sodality in the Chapel last Monday, Rev. Daniel J. Saunders, S.J., stressed the importance of individual piety.

"This year it is our objective to introduce thoroughly the rules of the Sodality to the new members and to make the others much more familiar with them," he declared. The speaker added that the duties of the Sodalists do not consist merely in attending a weekly meeting and Benediction.

Maurice C. Duchaine, '53, Prefect of the Resident Students' Sodality, has announced the appointment of Ronald J. Bocchieri, '53, as chairman of the Mariology Committee. Bocchieri, a B.S. Social Science student from Staten Island, New York, was highly instrumental in promoting the present October corridor Rosary Devotions. The new chairman disclosed that this year's plans will include the establishment of a Perpetual Novena to Our Lady and the publishing of a catalogue listing the various feasts of Mary. An effort will be made to establish a campus Knights of the Blessed Sacrament unit and to renew both Angelus Devotions and the recitation of the Little Office of the Blessed Virgin. The committee will also supervise the traditional May Devotions.

In closing the meeting, Father Saunders stressed that Sodality men should exert a greater influence in campus life by fulfilling the rules of the Sodality. The future instruction periods will be varied in style and will stress such subjects as Mental Prayer, Spiritual Readings and Examination of Conscience.

Father Facey Informs Debaters About FEPC

Rev. Paul J. Facey, S.J., professor of Sociology, in a lecture before the BJB Tuesday evening, condemned as "back-pew Christianity" the prevailing tendency to temporize with efforts towards racial amity. He was addressing the debaters on the background of Fair Employment Practices Legislation, this year's national topic.

Father Facey pointed out that proposed laws, while defective in some ways, represent a positive effort in the field of industrial relations toward eliminating discrimination. They do not propose, he asserted, to legislate prejudice out of men's minds, but they do attempt to eliminate discrimination which is the concrete evidence of that prejudice. This legislation would be educational as well as penal in nature, with greatest emphasis placed on persuasion and education.

The primary difficulty facing FEPC, he claimed, stems from difficulty of enforcing it, particularly in the South. He further pointed out that the appointment of local businessmen as enforcement agents may tend to reduce this problem.

At the same meeting, five new debates were listed on the schedule of the Society. The first of these will be at Brown University on Nov. 5, with Holy Cross defending the affirmative of the national topic. A negative team will visit Clark on Nov. 18, while Clark will meet our affirmative team here on Nov. 26. On January 9, the BJB has contracted for an exhibition debate before the Shrewsbury Woman's Club against Worcester Polytechnic Institute. The topic will be "Resolved: that the Point Four Program will not stop the spread of Communism in Asia." Holy Cross will provide the chairman and defend the negative. A tentative debate on the national topic was also scheduled with University of Connecticut here on November 6, with the BJB again on the affirmative side.

The staff of the 1953 PURPLE PATCHER cordially invites the students of all classes to attend the initial meeting of the advertising and circulation staffs in Room 50 Carlin immediately following tonight's Purple Key Rally. This invitation offers an opportunity to all students to attain business experience and financial gain by participation in the sale of ads and subscriptions for the 1953 PURPLE PATCHER.

Crusaders After Fourth Victory Tomorrow

MEDIOCRE BROWN ELEVEN SEEKS FIRST VICTORY AGAINST CROSS

"Wait till next year." That is the typical cry that is heard around the cities of Brooklyn and Providence these autumn days. The former is for obvious reasons, the latter is for less obvious, but just as interesting ones. Brown University, the "lap-dog" of the Ivy League for the past few years, is "building for next year." They have a big squad which is loaded with Sophomore talent, though little of it has been evident so far this year.

Gleason, Grid Center, Cites Will To Win

By Bob Unsworth

"I don't consider myself any expert in the art of rating ball players, but I think it's quite evident that Gleason is as fine an offensive center as you'll find in the country." The unidentified spectator must have known Captain Joe Gleason when he came back from the war, for as he buttoned up his collar against the brisk wind that swept the practice field, he continued. "I remember when he played ball back at LaSalle high school in Providence. Hustle, hustle, and more hustle. I've seen him take a man out on a play, get up and after another man, and get him, too. It's not hard to see why he was a First-team All-State in his senior year."

It goes back even further than that. He really started showing his stuff when he was on the LaSalle football squad in his second year—at the age, of course. But he was really in his last two years."

The air got even cooler, Coach Pearson continued putting his boys through their paces, and my new continued. "That year down in Indianapolis really put the polish on him, though. He was captain there too, you know. I guess there never was any doubt in our minds that Joe would make good at Brown. Like I said before, he's a terrific ball player, and a underrated one at that."

The rest of the Joe Gleason story is well known by heart. He was the first center on the Freshman eleven, then he got an understudy job from Murphy on Coach Anderson's "new era" team back in his senior year. As in high school, he proved his mettle in Junior College and combined with Captain Melton to take first team All-New England honors, not to mention All-Ivy, All-America and a few all-time eleveners. A born leader, Joe was natural to succeed Massucco as captain of this year's squad.

(Turn to Page Nine)

Al Kelley and his Bruins will be on the hunt for their first victory of the 1952 campaign when they come to Fitton Field on the morrow to meet the undefeated Crusaders. The Bears have given the appearance of cubs in the past couple of games, dropping their opener with the Yale Bulldogs at New Haven, and then being squeezed out to the tune of 7 to 6 at the hands of a Rhode Island University eleven, which is by no means a national football "powerhouse."

Work From "T"

This year's Bruin attack develops from the Kelley versions of the winged and conventional "T" formation, with Don Cottey running things from under center. There are no standout players on the Brown club although a number of them do play both ways in the two-platoon system. Among the latter are Bill Klaess who plays offensive left tackle and defensive left end, Ev Pearson who runs from the left half slot when Brown has the ball and who handles the left guard post on the defending side. Another "iron-man" is Ron Abdow, who plays the right wing on both offense and defense.

Like the Crusaders, the captain of the Brown eleven is their offensive center, Maurie Matteodo. He has played three years at center on the Bear varsity and is rated as a fine performer.

If Brown can come up with some spectacular improvement this coming Saturday, they may give the Crusaders a hard run for their money, but from this angle it looks as if Dr. Eddie Anderson's boys will win in a walk. Last year, the Crusaders murdered Brown, 41 to 6. This year the score may be a bit different, but the results should be about the same.

Up until this year the rivalry between Brown and Holy Cross stands at thirteen wins apiece, with two deadlocks. This is the oldest Jesuit-Ivy League rivalry in the nation right now, dating back to 1898.

Latest news concerning the injured men in the Crusader lineup brings out the fact that Chet Millett, All-America guard from Brockton, Mass., and Gene Schiller, star left halfback from Scotch Plains, N. J., will both be out for another week. Millett has a leg muscle injury, while Schiller is tending an injured knee. Both men may well be in uniform tomorrow, but are not expected to do any playing.

On the other side of the ledger, both "Chick" Murphy and Ed Walsh will be back in the Crusaders' defensive backfield unit tomorrow. Both men took a week's rest while the Crusaders blasted N. Y. U. last Saturday.

Mr. Ray Kennedy, football umpire and popular collegiate sports figure, died of a heart attack last Saturday. Following the Syracuse-Cornell game, at which he officiated, Mr. Kennedy was stricken and died in the locker room. A graduate of Spring Hill College, a Jesuit Institution, Mr. Kennedy had officiated at last year's Holy Cross-Tulane game and this year's Cross-Fordham tilt.

DEEPER SHADE OF PURPLE . . .

By BILL RIORDAN

Crossmen Weed Violet Crop, 35-0

By Bob McCormack

The morning of Saturday, October 11, was a dismal one in New York City as far as the weather was concerned; but around about 2 p.m., the sun broke through the clouds and a strong, fresh cluster of Violets made their appearance in Triborough Stadium. Approximately three hours later, the sun was still shining through the clouds but the Violets lay withered and crumpled, thanks to a 35-0 whitewashing by Holy Cross.

The Purple had a comparatively easy time of it as they notched win number three of their 1952 victory Crusade. Five thousand fans watched the Cross chalk up three six-pointers in rapid order in the first period and add one more score in both the second and third. The fourth quarter saw N. Y. U. regulars struggle with Holy Cross substitutes.

The squad from University Heights didn't make any headway in the opening minutes of play and so the Crusaders showed them how, as a 29-yard end run by Tony Parisi helped the Cross to march the ball right down to the Violets' front door, the one-yard line. The home team would not unbolt the entrance though, as they halted Charley Maloy's quarterback sneak on fourth down.

Dee Scores

N. Y. U. fullback Bobby Boettcher punted out of the frying pan and into the fire as Holy Cross took over on the Violet 32 and Charley Maloy started tossing bullseyes. Maloy's first peg hit John Carroll and advanced the pigskin to the six. After a five-yard penalty nullified Pete Biocca's five-yard run, Maloy went to work again zipping a bullet to end Bob Dee who neatly eluded defensive end Doherty's grasp and slipped over for the first score. Tony Parisi, who enjoyed a good day as a ball carrier, also stood out in the extra point department as he chipped in with the first of five conversions.

The secondhand didn't even have a chance to race around the clock before the Crusaders raced down to paydirt for the second time. Defensive end Owen Coogan pounced on Boettcher's fumble and, on the first play from scrimmage, Maloy pitched out to Pete Biocca who skirted right end for the tally.

Again Holy Cross took over possession of the ball and again they headed for the end zone, this time on a 55-yard march. Biocca, Hettinger and O'Leary lugged the leather to the N. Y. U. 23 and Maloy set his sights on Carroll who took the pass in stride and went five yards more for the T.D. The second quarter started and the Cross went right back to punching at the Violets' ragged defense. Gerry O'Leary's scoring run was called back because of a penalty, but N.Y.U. played into the Crusaders' hands via a bobble by Bill Burney which was recovered by "Tiger" Murphy on the N.Y.U. 16-yard line. Maloy was on the front end and Hettinger on the back end of the 12-yard touchdown play.

Drive 67 Yards

Holy Cross moved over the "crusher" in the third quarter. The culmination of a 67-yard drive came when Tony Parisi literally hurled himself over the right side of the line for the fifth and final touchdown. Some of the Crusader substitutes received their first induction under fire in the final quarter. Tom Carstens, Jay Shapely, Ed Ney, Dick Murphy and George Blair all proved themselves admirably.

PURPLE PENNINGS

By Bob Dorton, Sports Editor

THAT GUY MALOY . . .

The Holy Cross Crusaders, much to the amazement of no one, had just clubbed New York University, 35 to 0, for their third straight victory of the season. And Charley Maloy, "the magnificent fakir," as the newspapers are beginning to call him, had done it again.

Charley had just passed for three touchdowns to jack his three-game totals to six touchdowns, 36 completions and a total air gain of 471 yards. The most amazing part of the day's fete was the fact that Maloy sat out almost half of the ballgame after the Cross had bolted ahead by four touchdowns in the early stages of play. As a matter of fact, the only feasible explanation to Charley's appearance after the first quarter seemed to lay in a generous reward for the 5,000-odd spectators who braved the otherwise boring and eventless day. HAS GOTTEN BETTER AND BETTER . . .

Charley, who may yet go down as the greatest passer in Holy Cross history, started off his collegiate career with a boom. He showed up so well early in his sophomore year that he stole the quarterback post from Paul Gallo, from whom everyone had expected wonders. That year the "Chucker," poised like a "pro," set a national record by attempting 242 passes. He completed 106 of them for 14 teedees.

Junior year came, and with the immortal Massucco-Turco-Doyle machine posing a dynamic running threat, Charley stayed closer to the ground and concentrated on the quality of his passes. Last year, Chuck tossed 159 aeriels and completed 74 for 7 scores and a 46.5 average.

Charley Maloy

Thus far this season, Maloy has hit on 36 passes in 77 attempts for 471 yards. If we may calculate our final statistics by a ratio of figures, Charley should complete about 120 passes out of 257 for 1570 yards and a 46.8 average.

It is interesting to note how the Cross first became interested in Charley. It seems that four years back, two Cross sophomores, Herb Janick, later to become Assistant Sports Editor of these pages, and Joe Hammelle, both Aquinas graduates, had saved a batch of press clippings about "a guy named Maloy" who was tossing the ball all over the lot at Aquinas.

To borrow a bit from Dave Anderson, who wrote in this corner a few years back, Janick told him the story like this, "Doctor Osmanski was coaching then and Joe and I, we didn't know our way around too well, so we got the clippings together and took them to Father Hart and he told us he'd show them to Doctor Osmanski."

"We saw him a few days later and he (Father Hart) told us he had given them to the Doctor and he was very much interested and that he (the Doctor) was going to send Hop Riopel to scout Aquinas in one of their games."

SINCE THE RENAISSANCE . . .

"So that is the way," Dave wrote, "the Cross first lined up Charley Maloy, who is the Dante of the football renaissance at Holy Cross." And what a renaissance it has been since those words were first written! Since the first "rebuilding" year, Maloy has led Doctor Anderson's clubs to eleven victories in thirteen starts and put the Cross back into national prominence once again.

Charley's in for All-America honors again this fall. Could he punt and run, he could well be the top quarterback in the country. The "Chucker," we suppose, could try a hand at those departments but the Doctor likes to save his star for the sky. "Brother," someone summed up the situation recently, "when you can pass like that, you don't have to do anything else to be great."

Dunay, Potent Tackle, Paces Purple Defense

"Big Moose" Joe Dunay Deserving Of Accolade; Headed For N. E. Honors

By Matt Boylan

The record book had registered the brilliant 54-20 victory of Holy Cross over Fordham; what it had failed to register was the birth of another great Holy Cross defender, Joe Dunay. This strapping 6-foot-2, 205-pound tackle, in his first varsity game made himself an unwelcome guest of the heralded Roger Franz all day and capped his defensive antics by recovering a six-point fumble.

High-Scoring Tackle

Steady and dependable, Joe has won the respect of his teammates by virtue of his determined and consistent play. Though the "Big Moose," as his roommate and companion lineman Bob Masterson has dubbed him, is rock-ribbed reliability to perfection, still his 20-yard runback of an intercepted pass in the Colgate game last year for a touchdown has made him a mighty potent offensive-defensive player. In fact, his 12 points last year made him the nation's leading scorer among collegiate-tackles. Then, too, not many of the college linemen have the "Moose's" speed.

One of the mainstays of a defensive line which has held three opponents to a total of 16 points—including goal-line stands against Fordham and Dartmouth, Joe has won accolades of praise from both his own and opposing coaches.

A quiet and unassuming fellow, he recounts the story of a freshman at the Colgate game leaning over to a friend of his from Joe's home town of Taylor, Penn., and whispering, "Gee, he has that 'Ardens virtus.'" The friend replied, "We don't know much about parsing in Taylor but we know quite a bit about ballplaying." His friend was right; and Joe's continued fine playing holds an important place in the victory scheme of the Cross this year.

This 21-year-old lineman has done wonders up till now in the Crusader scheme of things, and even better things are expected of him in the future. Barring injuries, Joe should easily nail down a position on one of the sectional All-Star squads. As for his own future, he is undecided about playing pro ball but intends to go into business for himself. If Joe is as efficient in business as he is in football, there is little doubt about his success in the future.

INTRAMURALITES

News of intramurals is on the heavy side this week as competition was heavy in football, tennis and golf.

As far as the gridiron action goes, nine games and four forfeits went into the books. On last Tuesday, the first of the day's games was between Carlin I and Beaven II, the former coming out on the heavy side of a 25-0 count.

Wheeler V lost a unique contest to Alumni II, 1-0. After regulation time had elapsed, the count was knotted up at 0-0. Each team was then given four more downs on offense, the one gaining the most yardage being the winner. The Wheelerites failed to gain in their turn, but Alumni managed to pick up a yard on one of its four downs and was declared a 1-0 victor. In other Tuesday affairs, Alumni III eked out a 7-6 win over the Worcester Seniors, and the Off-Campus team was vanquished by Dorm A, 21-6.

Thursday, two forfeits came about. The Worcester Juniors couldn't field a full team, so Campion was awarded a 2-0 win. The Worcester Frosh followed the example of their elders and O'Kane III became victors in a 2-0 win. But, so that their efforts would not be wasted, Campion and O'Kane III played a regular game with Campion coming out on top, 2-0 on a late safety. In the completion of the day's festivities, Alumni I took the Worcester Sophs into camp, 18-0, and Beaven III got by O'Kane IV, 21-0.

On Friday, Alumni II lost to Beaven II, 6-0. A point after touchdown was the margin by which the Worcester Seniors edged out Wheeler II in a 7-6 contest. Besides its 6-0 win over Alumni II, Beaven II was awarded a 2-0 forfeit over Fenwick IV. The Worcester Sophs were scheduled to play the Dorm B team, but neither team showed up for this one.

Golf and Tennis

In the golf tournament, seven men advanced into the second round of play, and one, Bob Cooney (W-422), has made his way into the third flight. The remaining six who have to battle amongst each other for the right to enter the third round are: John Brady (W-337), Tom Vogel (W-145), Jim McDermott (W-423), Warren Furey (W-426), Pat Flaherty (A-304), and Charles Brennan (O'K-458).

In the tennis tourney, eight have survived first round competition, and Ed Hecht (O'K-378) has reached the third round.

SPORTS VIEWS

by Frank Geishecker &amp; Jim Snyder

If one game were a little shorter and the other a little longer last week-end, we probably would be bragging about a perfect record tonight. Yale led the last minute-and-a-half to upset our Columbia Lions, and Notre Dame could have used another minute or so to overtake the Pitt Panthers. As it stands, we can boast only .850 for the season.

But on with the show:

HOLY CROSS over Brown by the widest four-touchdown margin the Crusaders have enjoyed in quite a while. Brown is having its troubles this year, dropping its first Rhode Island State game in many years last Saturday. The Crusaders should come through handily, despite a shortage of manpower.

VILLANOVA over Boston College a thriller. Sportswriter Gene Filip should lead his mates to a hard-fought victory over Mike Holovak's still potent Eagles. The Wildcats will put out for blood tonight, still smarting after last year's upset defeat at the hands of the Chestnut Hillers.

PENNSYLVANIA over Columbia what should be a little easier for them than last Saturday's upset win over mighty Princeton.

CORNELL over Yale, but beware of an upset in this one. Ed Molloy had a great day last Saturday for Cornell, but the law of averages is against a repeat performance against victory-hungry Big Red.

ILLINOIS over Minnesota in a real Big Ten joust. After the Wisconsin loss, Tommy O'Connell and the Illini have started playing for keeps. Minnesota should make it hot for a while, but the nod here is to the lads from Champaign-Urbana.

ARMY over Pitt in an upset. Our up-picking luck can't stay with us forever, and this one may end it. Army is surprisingly strong, as last year's ND game would indicate, but the Cadets have the coaching and the guts to turn the trick.

MARYLAND over Navy in another tough one to pick. Even though the two teams are from the same conference, this one will pit the South's best against one of the better teams in the East.

NORTHWESTERN over Michigan. Looks like upset week, and here's another one to try on for size. These ten games make fools out of the sports' anyway.

MICHIGAN STATE over Syracuse but the chances are that the Spartans will push the nation's Number one club to the hilt.

NOTRE DAME over Purdue in a game that ought to see the Irish come back from last week's upset to Pitt.

CLGATE over Harvard, but watch out for the Cantabs—they may have something more than "white" in Cambridge this year.

STANFORD over UCLA in a big game on the coast. The Indians may have a little trouble with the Bruins from LA, however.

OKLAHOMA over Kansas to put some pep on the cake for this week. The Sooners always have a good club, and this year is no exception. It will be more than Charlie Hoag and his boys to top them this week.

Just for the record, we think that time the Holy Cross cheerleaders did more yelling for the team instead of at them. All over the country there seems to be a general attitude of what Doctor Anderson and his boys are doing. They have already played a lot of good games, and there is more excitement

Shea, McConnachie Lead Harriers Against Brown, M.I.T.

The Crusader cross-country team journeyed to Boston this afternoon to take part in a triangular meet against M. I. T. and Brown, at Franklin Park. It is the first meet for the Crusaders since their initial loss against Dartmouth three weeks ago.

Led by Bob Corboy, Bruce McConnachie and Bobby Shea, the Crusaders are hoping to head off such top New England runners as Walt Molineux and Tom Reid of Brown and the stalwart middle distance runners of Tech.

Corboy, ever improving, is slated to surprise in the meet.

Bobby Shea, probably the best hill and dale runner on the squad, should be the first man home for Holy Cross. The slender sophomore from Worcester North High has been a consistent winner.

McConnachie, the junior half-miler, and Paul Murphy, another outstanding second-year man, are also "big guns" in the harrier field. Murphy, still a bit young for college competition, needs much experience in cross country, while the more seasoned McConnachie should be one of the top men in the hill-and-dale sport.

Two other experienced and ready runners for the Purple are Ed Coughlin and Joe Devane, who have been seen on the roads around campus preparing for this season's meets.

Next Friday afternoon, the Crusaders journey to Providence to meet the harriers of Providence College in a meet on the P. C. campus.

GLEASON—

Fortunately, the 21-year-old Senior has proved no less a leader off the playing field. Last September 17, he was feted at a testimonial dinner given in his honor by the students and alumni of Rhode Island. Three days later, he was married to Miss Peggy Lane of Providence and is temporarily making his home in Worcester. A B.S. Education major, Joe has aspirations of cracking the radio announcing field after a brief stint with Uncle Sam's Marine Corps.

Howard J. West, '53, of the Navy, and Thomas V. Marino, '55, of the Air Force, have been named co-chairmen of the dance which is the first joint social activity undertaken by the two units.

Capt. James W. Bateman, USMC, urges all members of the unit to try out for the rifle team, which is holding practice sessions at the rifle range Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday afternoons. Thirty-five postal matches have been arranged and several shoulder matches are also included in the schedule. Captain Bateman is especially interested in freshmen candidates for the team and pointed out that no experience is necessary.

FENWICK FIRE—

period to look it over. After scrutinizing the entire lab not a trace of the could be found! Googs' lecture dealt with the carnivorous tendencies of the pre-historic lizard bat. At the close of the period, several students approached the doctor to inquire about the new equipment. "Equipment? What equipment?" Googs replied and hurriedly left the room. One of the boys standing in the hall remarked later that Googs had a diabolical sneer on his face as he whisked by him.

The wagon, with its mysterious cargo, appeared again and again until it was learned that Googs was using the contents for his own purposes in the Fenwick Tower.

On the morning of November 2, the Dean of the College summoned the eminent doctor to his office. Googs had charged over $30,000 for the school in less than a month and received a severe reprimand. Instantly he stormed from the office, muttering something about impeding the work of a genius.

Fear began to grip the campus when, a short time after Thanksgiving, a startling discovery was made. A freshman detected what he believed to be the tracks of the pre-historic lizard bat he had studied in Ancient Zoology. Father Rector ordered that no student was to enter his room after dark.

The climax came on the night of December 12. As the bells struck three, inhuman bellowings mingled with satanical laughter came from the tower. The following morning two freshmen withdrew. Googs appeared for his next class with a face like gash scratched across his forehead. This was more than the Dean could tolerate. He gave Googs a 24-hour notice.

On the night of the scheduled departure, the students huddled in the P. Bur of Fenwick for a last glimpse of the strange Googs. All eyes were on the tower. Again, the screaming began. Then a shattering of glass, as a ball hurtled from the tower. The crisis increased and finally ended in a tremendous explosion. The tower was blown up! Alas, the Fenwick was a flagration.

A short time later, a telegram arrived from Omsk U. claiming that the only preserved body of a prehistoric lizard bat in existence had been discovered from their research laboratory around the time of Googs' departure.

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields.
